

Health and safety notice:

Instead of our usual conferences which would have been held in late spring and summer, we are organising workshops which are designed to enable colleagues to attend CPD whilst staying as safe as possible from coronavirus.

The workshops are for up to 20 people and will be held in rooms large enough to enable participants to sit at a distance from others. Hygiene facilities will be in place and, whilst refreshments will be available, there is no designated break time where participants will be mixing together closely. Participants booking on both a morning and an afternoon session will be offered lunch. There will be enough time between sessions to allow for a staggered lunch so that participants do not have to sit near others in the restaurant.
